2020 Jiang-Wang-Land Outstanding Student Paper Award to Zhang Yunran

On November 5th, Dr. Jessica Li, the Chair of the Review Panel announced the result of the 2020 Jiang-Wang-Land Outstanding Student Paper Award. Miss Serena (Yunran) Zhang from the Chinese University of Hong Kong received the 2020 Jiang-Wang-Land Outstanding Student Paper Award.

Serena's paper, Control, peer effects, and normalization of recreational drug use in China: Gender as a moderator, stood out above all the high quality submitted papers. The Award Review Panel (Professors Nicole Cheng, Shanhe Jiang, Ivan Sun, and Kevin Wang) highly commended her paper. Thanks also to Eddie Wei and Iris Luo for their assistance.

On November 19th, ACCCJ hosted a special and prestigious award presentation from Hong Kong, via ZOOM. Bill Heberton (the President of ACCCJ) and Jessica Li (the Review Panel Chair) presented the 2020 Jiang-Wang-Land Outstanding Student Paper Award to Serena in the presence of her supervisor, Dr. Sara Zhong.

10-year celebration status

Association of Chinese Criminology and Criminal Justice (ACCCJ) was officially established on November 17, 2010 in San Francisco. A total of 32 scholars from Canada, mainland China, Hong Kong, Macau, Taiwan, the U.K., and the U.S. attended the inaugural meeting during which the draft bylaws of the association was discussed and a board of directors were elected. Seven members were elected to serve the first board, including President Liqun Cao, President-elect Shanhe Jiang, Treasurer Bin Liang, and directors Xiaogang Deng, Bill Heberton, and Hong Lu and Ivan Sun. The total number grew to over 50 during the 2010 ASC meeting!

10th Anniversary Special Issue of International Journal of Offender Therapy and Comparative Criminology

Special issue Contemporary Issues in Crime, Criminal Justice and Criminology in Greater China, was commissioned specifically as part of the 10th anniversary celebrations of the Association of Chinese Criminology and Criminal Justice in the United States (ACCCJ). The purpose of the special issue was seen as showcasing both ACCCJ members' and others research contributions on crime, criminal justice and criminology in the Greater China region.

“At its tenth anniversary, ACCCJ stands strong. Its past accomplishments bespeak its goals stipulated in its bylaws. We are proud to attract many international scholars interested in criminology and criminal justice in Chinese societies. As a transparent professional organization in an open society, ACCCJ is ready for new challenges in the future. We are confident that ACCCJ will continue to grow and thrive.” (Editors’ Introduction: Heberton, Lee, Lu, and Cao, 2020)
